Title Insurance Like Fire Insurance
A Title Insurance Company will not insure a title that may cause any trouble, any more than a Fire Insurance Company will insure a building that is more than a fire insurance company requires a building that it insures to be fire proof. As the owner who does not insure his buildings takes the risk of loss by fire, so also does the owner, who does not have the title to the real estate he buys insured, take the risk of having trouble from an imperfect title.
To prevent any such trouble have the INDIANA TITLE AND LOAN CO. insure the title to your property and be assured that you are as safe from loss as when your buildings are insured against fire.

It's Possible to Show Something New—
Our unpacking room is filled to the top with lovely spring papers; and who would want a better time to decorate?—You have the advantage of a perfect selection and you're getting the worth of fresh decorations when you need them most—the holidays.
